Proper engagement delivers the best results.
That’s been a proven fact for many years, but with the changes our world has seen in the past year, it’s never been more important to understand that. People are realizing that decisions are happening that affect them and they’re demanding to have a meaningful voice in those decisions.

The Public Participation (P2) profession is all about ensuring those voices are heard and considered, to achieve the greatest good. The 2017 North American Conference, September 6 through 8, brings P2 professionals and others interested in good P2 from the USA, Canada and around the world together in Denver, considering the theme:

“Pursuing the Greater Good - P2 for a Changing World.”

This is an opportunity for people in fields outside but connected to the P2 scope -- such as planners, architects, educators, healthcare professionals, politicians and communicators -- to find out about the latest tools, techniques and trends. What are the best ways to reach the most people? What sectors might be getting missed? What are the proven successes of good P2 processes? Lessons learned from things that didn’t go as well as expected. Join the more than 200 people already registered for this event as we all think about - P2 for a changing world!

The 2017 IAP2 North American Conference is also a fine opportunity to promote your own business and demonstrate your own commitment to meaningful engagement. Sponsorships are available with a wide range of options. Find out more here.
Come and join us in Denver! Visit the Conference webpage and check out the Schedule-at-a-Glance to get more information. Your registration fee gets you into more than 40 intriguing, insightful, interactive sessions, pre-conference workshops and field trips, continental breakfasts, lunches and the annual Core Values Awards dinner Gala at the magnificent History Colorado Center, where you can see who has been producing the best, most innovative and inclusive P2 processes.

See you at the Conference!

- Register Now!
- Hotel Info.
- Schedule-at-a-glance

Become a Sponsor!

- Learn More!
- Apply Now!